

G. STAHL, CONFESSED PERJURER, IS TO BE SENTENCED TODAY

German Reservist, Who Made False Affidavit in Lusitania Affair, Faces Long Term.

Official advice to the Department of Justice from District Attorney Snowden Marshall, at New York, stated that Gustav Stahl, the German reservist, who pleaded guilty to perjury in making false affidavit that the Lusitania was armed, will be sentenced today. The extreme penalty for the crime so admitted is five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Stahl's action in pleading guilty and surrendering along the blame temporarily defeats the efforts of the Department of Justice to trace the men "higher up," who were said to be involved in the alleged Lusitania defense conspiracy.

Had he gone to trial, it was thought certain that the truth would come out, bringing to light the entire conspiracy in which German sympathizers were said to be involved for the purpose of justifying the submarine attack on the Lusitania.

Led Indirectly Here.
The trial in the Stahl affidavit case, it is declared, led to the offices of prominent German government officials in New York, and indirectly to the embassy in Washington. Stahl in pleading guilty refused to incriminate any official, however, despite the efforts of Federal officers to wring a confession from him.

Stahl, in an affidavit to Ambassador von Bernstorff after the sinking of the Lusitania, swore that on April 20, the day before the Lusitania sailed from New York, he saw a trunk on the vessel and saw four guns mounted, two fore and two aft.

This was one of four affidavits filed with the State Department by Count von Bernstorff in support of his contention that the Lusitania was armed and consequently a legal object of submarine attack.

Crippled German Defense.
It was subsequently determined by officials of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice that Stahl had not been near the Lusitania and his arrest on perjury charges crippled the defense of the German Government.

District Attorney Marshall advised the department that sentence will be passed upon Stahl by Judge Hough, of the United States district court of New York before whom Stahl was arraigned and pleaded guilty yesterday.

One Year Ago Today in the War

In a terrific assault on the invaders one year ago today, September 9, the defenders of Paris checked the German advance on that capital and routed large sections of the Teutonic forces. British troops threw Von Kluck's center back on the Marne from Varennes to Chateau-Thierry. After seventeen failures, British engineer constructed a bridge across the Marne at Varennes. Von Kluck's entire army, before the day was done, was in full retreat.

French forces joined in the British attack. Forces estimated at 3,000,000 battled all day along a line extending from Meaux, northeast of Paris, to Verdun, and from Verdun to Nancy.

The French fortress of Maubeuge, on the Sambre river, with 40,000 defenders, fell into German hands.

After victories which drove the Austrians out of Russian Poland the Czar's troops made for Cracow.

Japan landed 20,000 men in China, eighty miles from Kiaochow.

NAVY YARD INQUIRY GETS WIDER SCOPE

Pay of All Munitions Workers To Be Considered As Well As That of Machinists.

Not only the wages of machinists, but the wages of all munitions workers in the Washington Navy Yard, will be reported on October 1, following a special investigation to be made by the wage board, according to an announcement made by Captain Eberle, commandant of the yard, today.

This change in the original plan to probe only the wages of the machinists at this time, and to take up other wages at the annual wage inquiry in January, was brought about by a special order from Secretary Daniels.

This order directs that all men engaged on "ordnance material or other ordnance work" be included in the inquiry.

There are about 3,300 employees in the Washington Navy Yard, and about 3,000 of them are included in the scope of the order. Capt. Commander A. L. Willard is president of the wage board that will go into the pay question by determining the amounts now paid in private plants for similar work.

To pursue the inquiry, Commander Willard and other board members will go to Bethlehem, Midvale, Pa., and other private ordnance factories. Among the trades included in the wage adjustment besides the machinists are the patternmakers, boiler-makers, coppersmiths, and blacksmiths.

FISCAL RELATIONS MEETING TONIGHT

Chairman Macfarland Calls Together Executive Committee For Conference.

The executive committee of the joint citizens' committee on fiscal relations between the United States and the District will meet tonight in the office of the chairman, Henry B. F. Macfarland, to continue the preparation of facts to be presented to the Congressional committee on October 20, next.

All the members of the executive committee have not returned, but Chairman Macfarland has been in correspondence with them since the last meeting of the committee in July and knows their views. Chairman Macfarland has been procuring from the Treasury Department, the Interior Department, and the Department of Commerce additional facts which he will submit to the executive committee.

All the subcommittees have completed their work except that on assessment and taxation, of which John Joy Edson is chairman. Its task was too great to be completed before the end of this month.

Chairman Macfarland conferred this morning with Mr. Edson, Thomas Bradley, secretary of the committee, and A. M. Fisher, statistical expert, on the progress of the work.

The postponement of the opening of the hearing before the joint select committee of Congress from September 29 to October 20 is gratifying to the executive committee as giving more time for the preparation.

Indorse British Policy.
BRISTOL, England, Sept. 8.—By a vote of 600 to 7 the Trades Union Congress has approved the war policy of the British government. Representatives of every trade in the United Kingdom pledged themselves to assist in every way possible in the work necessary to gain the final victory over Germany.

TAFT, TO BANKERS, SLAMS INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

"Arrogant Capital" and "Arrogant Labor" Among Terms Used in Seattle Address.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 8.—"I am an optimist," William Howard Taft, former President, thus closed what he termed an "Economic and Political Summary of the Generation Just Closing." In a lengthy address before the American Bankers' Association today, his speech bristled with pungent sentences, as he slammed one thing after another that appealed to him as hindering the best development of the American people.

In this category were the initiative and referendum, the recall, general primaries, arrogant capital and arrogant labor. But in conclusion, he declared himself an optimist who could see that good would result even from such a catastrophe as the present European war. Paragraphs and sentences from his speech follow:

"The rapid growth of wealth between 1880 and 1900 absorbed the attention of all our people. We were all in the chase for the dollar."

"The principle of combination was not quite as applicable to politics and party government as to machinery and capital."

Steel Rails and Delegates.
"The time came when it was possible in some great corporations for the officers and directors to issue, with the same nonchalance, orders for steel rails on the one hand or for the delivery of delegates to a national political convention on the other."

"For more than two decades the controversy went on between the railroads and the Government until the weakling board of 1887 grew into the powerful tribunal of 1910, and the railroads found themselves brought under complete control."

"This history of the interstate commerce law and its enforcement contains one of the most useful lessons to those who would defy the people in the pride of entrenched power. It may take years, but all the people cannot be fooled all the time."

"Corporations have been driven out of politics, and while, of course, corruption is not ever absent, the danger of plutocracy has disappeared and the purification of politics has constituted a real reform for which all good citizens must be grateful."

"Nothing is so timid as capital, and nothing is so easily able to take care of what it has. A hostile spirit manifested in legislation buttons up the pockets of those who control wealth."

Rates For Railroads.
"We must grant increased rates to the railroads when the conditions require it, and grant them quickly. Millions own their stock. They employ millions of men."

"We should repeal the full crew bills that impose upon the railroad companies the burden of employing unnecessary labor."

"We should know that the unions have come to stay and to remain powerful factors in the progress of the community. But evil tendencies have appeared in such combinations just as in combination of capital. Trades unionism has tended to create that level of industry and skill among wage earners."

"But the chief ground for criticizing the recent policy of trades unions is the fact that the power they have legitimately acquired by combination and have properly used for the betterment of their conditions, they are now attempting to abuse by seeking to place organized labor in a privileged class."

Leave Decision To Minority.
"If it be true that a people have not information and intelligence to select from their own number competent and honest agents to do their work, they certainly have not the capacity to perform the much more difficult task of passing useful judgment on statutes, frequently difficult to construe or understand. Again, the duty imposed upon the people in legislating by initiative and referendum is so much more burdensome than that imposed by the representative system in selecting agents to do this work that the majority of the voters too frequently refuse to perform their electoral duties, and thus leave to a minority of the electors the decision of important questions submitted by referendum."

FORD HAS $9,000,000 MORE FOR PEACE

Also Willing to Give Work to All Convicts Released From Michigan Prison.

DETROIT, Sept. 8.—Three more announcements by Henry Ford have made public the automobile maker's far-reaching plans for the benefit of mankind.

The most striking was the promise Mr. Ford made to G. W. Hartt, in charge of the State prison at Jackson, that he would employ all the discharged convicts from the institution as fast as they are released.

"I have yet to meet a thoroughly bad man," said Mr. Ford. "Every man has his good qualities, and they will assert themselves if given a chance, and I am willing to give them that chance."

Invited To Conference.
Mr. Hartt was invited to visit Mr. Ford at his office and discuss the matter further. Mr. Ford also announced that he would follow his $10,000,000 offer with $9,000,000 more, if necessary.

He says that he already has men employed in the active formulation of plans toward bringing the peace question before the entire country. In outlining his beliefs, Mr. Ford acknowledged the obstacles in his path, spoke of the criticism accorded him for his views, but, unshaken in his stand, he solemnly said he would devote $10,000,000 to the campaign if necessary.

"I have been severely criticized for my peace views, and I expect more criticism of them," said Mr. Ford. "I expect to take a fall out of my critics just about as often as they take one out of me, however."

Way To Insure Peace.
"I believe thoroughly that education is necessary to insure peace in the United States. The people must be taught that the glamour and glory painted into war pictures are false. They must be shown that preparation for war creates war. They must learn how their taxes are used for military preparations in times of peace only to be wasted along with their lives in times of war."

"I have several men working for me now in the campaign for peace," Mr. Ford said, and announced today was that the new farm tractor would be made in Canada by his company there. He will add 10,000 men to his working force there.

It is believed the possibility of the tractor being manufactured in Canada was the chief reason for the sudden boost in price of the Canadian point stock from par to $1.50.

Turkey Yields Railroad.
LONDON, Sept. 8.—Premier Radoslawski, of Bulgaria, stated in an interview today that the agreement for the cessation of the Bledagatch railway to Bulgaria by Turkey has been concluded and that the occupation of the ceded territory will begin ten days hence in the presence of Bulgarian and Turkish officials.

Rheumatism
A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It
In the spring of 1901 I was attacked by muscular and inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried many remedies, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number of my friends who were terribly afflicted and even sold it to a friend who was afflicted with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to you. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. I want that fact. Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Collision Tosses Baby Into Tree
Infant Unhurt When Automobile Hits Carriage After Running Through Stone Wall.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 8.—Lillian Kalsing, six months old, was sleeping peacefully in her carriage on the lawn in front of the Kalsing home when suddenly a large automobile left the Boston post road, crossed through the stone fence, and across the lawn. It struck the baby carriage, tossed the body of the carriage and the sleeping baby twenty feet through the air and into the croch of an old apple tree.

Mrs. Henry Kalsing, the mother, ran from the house and was searching under the automobile for her infant when she heard a merry cooing from the apple tree and looked up. There was the baby leaning out of the basket and gurgling happily to her mother. The baby was unharmed.

Frederick Muller, of New York city, driver of the automobile, said his brakes broke and to avoid hitting another automobile he guided his own through the stone wall.
